THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser.

SATURDAY, JULY 18.

NEVANE VALLEY, July 18, 1874.

To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser:

Sir.—Although in your estimation, "rain is the normal condition of this locality," it may be interesting to some of your readers to know the difference in amount, of one month as compared with another—the difference in the same month of different years—and the difference in quantity between this locality and others not far distant, from which you are receiving and publishing reports.

I have predicted a wet summer—to the surprise of some of my neighbors—my prediction being based principally upon the simple fact that my record shows about the same yearly average of rain, and as we were much short of our usual average during the past year, I deemed it reasonable to look for the balance during the summer.

The past month, here, has been unusually wet, there having been no twenty-four hours during the month without some rain, and upon six days the amount fallen has been from one to upwards of two inches per day.

The fall during the month has been 16.61 inches, being nearly four times as much as the May preceding—more than double that of April last—nearly double the amount of any month of June since 1868, when we had 12.95 inches against 10.36 in June, 1867; but so evenly has the rain of the past month been distributed through the month, that the quantity has scarcely been excess of the full requirements of vegetation while subject to the vertical rays of a June sun.

On the first of last month there were hundreds of acres in this valley without one blade of green grass, it having been eaten to the roots by that curse of this country, the pelusa or caterpillar. Stock, cows particularly, were suffering for food; oxen used for hauling heavy loads were compelled to perform several days work upon less than one day's food, but thanks to a kind Providence of bountiful showers and genial sun, the valley has nearly regained its usual carpet of green—animals now feed from grass and length, which will soon contain the nourishment to more than supply the flesh and strength lost.

The springs are now as full as ordinarily during the winter, and as "Old Sol" has started on his little trip to light up the Antarctic regions, we may reasonably anticipate an agreeable escape from drouth during the summer, and disagreeable visits and injunctions from the superintendent of water for the city.

Rain—month of June, 1867, 10.26; 1868, 12.95; 1869, 6.18; 1870, 7.41; 1871, 8.01; 1872, 8.09; 1873, 7.18.
